

Organizational and methodological foundations of sports-oriented physical training of students

The system of improving the health of students in a modern school: state, problems and prospects for development

The influence of motor activity on the psycho-emotional state of students during the COVID-19 pandemic

Formation and development of recreation and health systems for schoolchildren

Recreation and health tourism in the schools of Precarpathia

Physical training of schoolchildren in a natural environment during the COVID-19 epidemic

Improving the psychophysical qualities of adolescents through recreational and health-improving means (on the example of the activities of Plast)

Physical training of schoolchildren with disorders of cognitive functions

The genesis of pedagogical thought on improving the health of student youth

The influence of physical and sports activities on the immunobiological properties of children's bodies

Formation of the health culture of elementary school students by means of physical education

Development of students' motility based on morphofunctional indicators

Formation of emotional stability of teenagers by means of physical culture

Online pedagogical technologies of physical culture for schoolchildren

Health and sports recreation among student youth

Health and recreation culture of students and its formation in the process of physical training

Prevention of postural disorders in elementary school students by means of physical education

Organizational and pedagogical aspects of involving children of a special medical group in physical exercises

Optimization of physical culture lessons in primary school based on the use of mobile games

Peculiarities of using mobile games in children's recreational activities

Technology of preparation and implementation of sports animation programs in children's summer recreation camps

Formation of recreational culture of students in physical education lessons

Formation of readiness of hyperactive children to study at school by means of physical education

Innovations of differentiated development of physical qualities of schoolchildren

Physical culture as a means of correcting aggressive behavior of teenagers

Health technologies in the educational space of preschool educational institutions

Constitutional components of somatic health of schoolchildren

Formation of readiness of high school students for independent classes in physical and sports exercises

Physical culture in school education in European countries

The technology of using non-specific means of physical culture in the process of physical training of students

Formation of organizational and management competencies in future physical education teachers

Competitive game tradition in the practice of military and physical training of Ukrainian youth

Organizational and methodical provision of physical culture of children of older preschool age