

The effectiveness of the implementation of the innovative educational project "Methodology of teaching judo in institutions of general secondary education"

Modern approaches to correcting the physique of young people in the process of physical education

The influence of game sports on the functional state of schoolchildren

Development of physical qualities of schoolchildren with different levels of physical capacity

Formation of interest in physical exercises in physical education classes

Integrated physical education lessons as a means of activation of primary school students

Implementation of new modules in the physical education program of the new Ukrainian school

Age characteristics of the functional state of schoolchildren under the influence of physical exercises

Morpho-functional and physical condition of first-year students of Precarpathian University.

Application of new types of motor activity in physical education lessons of 5-6 grade students of secondary education institutions

Patriotic education of students by means of active tourism

Principles of the functioning of the health and physical activity system of future physical education teachers